

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Specialty Theatre Supplies forms relationship with international stage rigging specialist – J.R. Clancy of the United States

MELBOURNE (March 30, 2011) – Specialty Group Pty Ltd is pleased to announce the establishment of a relationship between its Specialty Theatre Supplies division based in Melbourne (www.specialtytheatre.com) and international theatrical rigging specialist J.R. Clancy, Incorporated from the United States (www.jrclancy.com).

Established in 1969, Specialty Theatre Supplies is an Australian-owned specialist in live theatre, performance space and cinema fit-out projects of all sizes. With extensive experience in 28 countries across the globe, Specialty Theatre Supplies works to provide clients with the best possible solution from design and supply to installation and ongoing maintenance.

With over 125 years of experience providing services to the entertainment industry around the world, J.R. Clancy, Incorporated are a leading manufacturer of theatrical stage equipment in the United States and provide everything from simple stage hardware to highly sophisticated automated systems for any rigging need.

“This new relationship between Specialty Theatre Supplies and J.R. Clancy provides us with the opportunity to supply a greater variety of very sophisticated rigging equipment to our customers” says Ben Thompson General Manager, Specialty Theatre. “We now have access to J.R. Clancy’s research and development and will draw on the resources of this world-wide leader” says Ben.

Charles Shatzkin, International Sales Manager for J.R. Clancy, believes that “this relationship will provide more resources and opportunities to Australian performance venues, giving them better access to state-of-the-art products and resources. We are thrilled to establish this relationship with a renowned Australian supplier and look forward to working with them closely” says Charles.